Fr. Joseph's Corner "A Short Story"

his is a short story about a runaway boy named David. He is writing a letter to his mother at home to express his hope that his old-fashioned father would forgive him and accept him again as his son.

The boy writes: "In a few days I will be passing our property. If Dad will take me back, ask him to tie a white cloth on the apple tree in the field next to our house.

Days later, David is seated on a train which is rapidly approaching his house. Soon the tree will be visible around the next bend, but David can't bring himself to look at it. He is afraid the white cloth won't be there.

Turning to the man sitting next to him, he says nervously, "Sir? Will you do me a favor?"

"Sure, son, what is it?" the man answers.

"Around the bend on the right you will see a tree. Will you tell me if there is a white cloth tied to it?" As the train rumbles past the tree, David stares straight ahead. Then in a quaking voice he asks the man, "Mister, is there a white cloth tied to one of the branches of the tree?"

And the man answers in a surprised voice, "Why, son, there is a white cloth tied to practically every branch!

Today's Homily

TODAY'S SCRIPTURES are about announcing the Good News. They remind us that announcing the Good News of the Kingdom by words, deeds, and life is not the task of only a few. Rather, it is a task for all baptized Christians.

In the first reading, Isaiah announces the good news to the returned Babylonian exiles that the ruined and desolate Jerusalem will take care of them "as a mother comforts her baby son." Isiah assures the returned Jews that they will live in the certainty of Yahweh's promises of love, protection, prosperity, and salvation.

In today's second reading, Paul removes the confusion created by the Judaizers in the minds of the new Gentile Christians of Galatia. He clearly conveys the good news that it is Jesus' death on the cross which brings one's salvation and not Jewish heritage or practice of Torah laws. Paul reminds us that the mission of each member of the Church is to bear witness to the saving power of the cross of Christ through a life of sacrificial, self-giving service.

In today' Gospel, Luke describes the fulfillment of the prophetic promise made by Isaiah in Jesus' commissioning of 72 disciples to preach the Gospel or the good news of God's love and salvation in towns and villages in preparation for his own visit. Jesus gives the paired disciples "travel tips" for their missionary journey. They must be walking witnesses of God's providence, relying on the hospitality of others, living very simple lives, preaching the Good News, and healing the sick. Today's Gospel reminds us that we, the 1.5 billion Christians in the world today, have the mission of the 72, to preach the Gospel of Christ to the rest of world's 4.5 billion non-Christians.

We need to continue Christ's mission by proclaiming the Good News: Just as Jesus in today's Gospel gives instructions to the 72 missionaries, He also gives each one of us a mission to carry out. There were just a handful of followers in Jesus' day to preach the Good News, but today there are more than one billion Roman Catholics and about a half billion other Christians (in 30,000 denominations!) who accept Jesus as their "Lord" and "Savior." So, there are 1.5 billion missionaries in a world of six billion people. A recent survey asked the question, "Why do adults join the Catholic Church in spite of the scandals publicized in the media?" Seventy-five percent of new adult converts to the Catholic Church reported that they were attracted by a personal invitation from a of these martyrs.

Catholic who had a lively relationship with Christ and with His Church. As faithful Catholics, we will attract others to the Catholic Church—just as a rose attracts people by its beauty and fragrance. It's our job. It's our responsibility. We must not miss the current opportunities to be apostles in our everyday life by our words and deeds.

We also need to avoid giving counter-witness: The Church is founded on the rock of Peter, a humble, uneducated fisherman who died for the Lord he professed. We should not be "Catholics for a Free Choice" who oppose anything proposed by the Church, including the most basic right to life. Nor should we be "armchair" Catholics, spiritual "weekend warriors," "cafeteria" Catholics, or "barely-make-it-to-Mass" members of the Church, who bear counter-witness to Christ. Instead of giving counter-witness, let us become heralds of the Kingdom in our own homes by treating each other with profound respect. When spouses respect each other and, thus, teach their children to do the same, our neighbors will experience the Kingdom in our families, because the Kingdom of God is God's rule in our hearts, enabling us to do His will.

The modern world needs the heroic witnessing of martyrs. The early writers of the Church never called the first Christians "martyrs" in the modern sense of the word—but, rather, they gave that name to those who died "giving witness" (martyrein) to Christ. The most important element wasn't their deaths; it was their fidelity to their Faith until the last moment of their lives. Martyrs are not people to be relegated to the distant past. Recent history abounds with examples of martyrdom: civil war in Spain, religious persecution in Poland, Mexico, Vietnam, Russia, China, and Africa. The names of Edith Stein (Germany), Maximilian Kolbe (Poland), Miguel Pro (Mexico), and Pedro Poveda (Spain) are only the beginning of a long list of innocent victims, witnesses for their Faith. Even today, religious freedom is still denied in various countries and, in fact, several Muslim nations forbid the celebration of the Sacraments. In our day, there are also "moral martyrs" who, although they are never physically killed, die an ignominious death, persecuted in the press, defamed in the media, and falsely accused of faults they never committed. As successors of the 72 disciples, we are called upon to do Christ's work with the courage

July—The Month of the Precious Blood of Jesus

July—the Precious Blood of Jesus

The month of July is dedicated to the Precious Blood. The feast of the Precious Blood of our Lord was instituted in 1849 by Pius IX, but the devotion is as old as Christianity. The early Fathers say that the Church was born from the pierced side of Christ, and that the sacraments were brought forth through His Blood.

"The Precious Blood which we worship is the Blood which the Savior shed for us on Calvary and reassumed at His glorious Resurrection; it is the Blood which courses through the veins of His risen, glorified, living body at the right hand of God the Father in heaven; it is the Blood made present on our altars by the words of Consecration; it is the Blood which merited sanctifying grace for us and through it washes and beautifies our soul and inaugurates the beginning of eternal life in it."

Independence Day

The 4th of July—also known as Independence Day, or July 4th—has been a federal holiday in the United States since 1941, but the tradition of Independence Day celebrations goes back to the 18th Century and the American Revolution.

On July 2, 1776, the Continental Congress voted in favor of independence, and two days later delegates from the 13 colonies adopted the Declaration of Independence, a historic document drafted by Thomas Jefferson.

From 1776 to the present day, July 4th has been celebrated as the birth of American independence, with festivities ranging from fireworks, parades, and concerts to more casual family gatherings and barbecues.

The 4th of July is on Monday, July 4, 2022.
